

From: Jamie Dillon
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/23/02 1:27pm
Subject: Microsoft settlement

Thanks for listening,

My primary concern with the proposed Microsoft case solution is the idea of Microsoft flooding public schools with their software, as well as Windows-based hardware, as a penalty. Their suggestion here is typically disingenuous, and a bad plan. I've made a career in public schools, where we have the strength of a variety of platforms.

The Justice Dept has made great strides in pursuing this long course. Thanks for the work.

Jamie Dillon

--

Jamie Dillon, speech pathologist, Gonzales Schools <*>
<jdillon@monterey.k12.ca.us> <http://www.winepress.com/jd1.htm>
"Did you ever see a wolf in spats?" - G. Marx